

TEACHERS

Just a quick note to tell you about our Half Term ultra-cool, super hip yet super informative fun laden expletive free week of activities.

We have split this week into 5 themes – Music, Art, Home Activities, Volunteering and Citizenship and Culinary Delights.

There are no worksheets and nothing to mark, all we hope is that you can let your students know that if they have run out of ideas or completed Fortnite that maybe they would like to give some of our activities a go.

Hopefully these types of activities will broaden some horizons or provide food for thought (especially the cooking day LOL). Whilst we aim to help your students into future careers, we also want to know that it's okay to spend a couple of hours painting, listening to some rad tunes or caring for the community they live in.

Let us know how we've done and maybe get involved yourselves.
