Have a think about the societies that would like to join and then have a go at developing your own society by answering the questions below.

1. What would be the name of your society?
2. Would people have to pay to join your society?
3. What activity would you hold in the first week of university to attract new members?
4. How often would you meet with your members?
5. Would you hold any special events during the year?
